The ACSTM – RECOGNIZED EVENT IN ASIA

An internationally recognized premier academic event for reporting, advanced research, and development in the entire field of Science, Technology, and Medicine. ACSTM is a high-end academic platform for the early careers to well-established scientists and researchers share exciting ideas, refresh the current knowledge, strengthen the collaboration and build new networks across the discipline.

Your Presence at the ACSTM-2021 will be a rewarding experience.

The event takes place every year and is hosted by a local member of the ACSE.

The ACSTM is an initiative of the Asian Council of Science Editors to support the organization's purpose statement 'fostering communication, collaboration and innovation across disciplines through organizing seminars, training workshops, short courses and conferences'.

Top three factors which prompt participants to attend:

- ✓ Networking and developing new partnerships
- ✓ Listening to renowned international experts
- ✓ Learning and sharing best practices

Benefits to attend the conference
